

A quiz on your love style

The scene: You find yourself attracted to someone new who, for generality and political correctness, we shall call "Q." Your degree of attraction (or love!) for "Q" obviously changes over time for a variety of reasons. One of those reasons may be in response to how Q's feelings for you evolve with time. For each hypothetical situation below, indicate whether your own feelings of attraction for Q increase or decrease.

(1) Q's attraction for you is growing with time.

Indicate if your own attraction goes up or down:

(2) Q's attraction for you is decreasing with time.

Indicate if your own attraction goes up or down:

(3) Your current attraction for Q is high.

Indicate whether this helps your future feelings go up or down:

(4) Your current attraction for Q is low.

Indicate whether this might help your future attraction go up or down:
